[113] Governance is a continuous improving task. It outlines responsibilities to the [119] organizational structure that holds [110] accountability and [130] complies with laws/regulation. The [119] structure requires a strong leadership on [150] management that will shape the [117] corporate culture. At the same time, [117] corporate culture shapes [113] governance, and may increase or mitigate [142] threats. [113] Governance aims to balance interests on [104] stakeholders that can also pose [142] threats, just like [310] operational technology. [113] Governance uses [140] risk management to identify improvements and mitigate threats.
