

The concept of [401] Enterprise Architecture is the centre of this concept map. It is a conceptual outlining of the “architecture” of a given enterprise. The purpose of this is to determine how the organization best can achieve its future goals and objectives. It can help the organization achieve a [410] Digital Transformation. Another important aspect of the [401] Enterprise Architecture is that it helps different departments inside the [100] organization coordinate with respect to the [140] Risk Management, thus increasing the [100] organization’s [159] Maturity. By outlining how to best achieve future goals, the enterprise can plan to avoid accumulating too much [450] technical debt.
