The foundation for a strong Management System (MSS) starts with clear direction from Governance. This sets the stage for ethical operations through strong Compliance (regulations and ethics). Risk Management then identifies potential threats, with Data Protection safeguarding sensitive information within the system.

Corporate Culture shapes how employees interact with the MSS, and Knowledge Management empowers them with the necessary expertise. Performance Indicators continuously track progress and provide valuable data for both the system itself and Risk Management.

Finally, clear Accountability reinforces this entire approach, particularly in areas like Governance and Compliance. This ensures everyone is responsible for upholding the established direction and ethical practices.
